Enjoy A Little Taste of Janesville

Wisconsin's Oldest Fine Arts Event

Location: Held on the beautiful Lincoln - Tallman House grounds, the last remaining private residence where Lincoln slept in Wisconsin. The grounds encompass several structures including the offices of the Rock County Historical Society. The campus is on Janesville's north west side adjacent to Mercy Hospital.

Liability: RCHS should exercise all reasonable precautions. However, vendors shall indemnify and hold harmless the Rock County Historical Society, its Board of Trustees, staff, and volunteers; sponsors; and the City of Janesville against any and all loss or damage to property.

Entry & Fees: To enter, submit entry form, Standard booth size is 10'x10'. Contact RCHS if additional room is needed. Your non profit organization will be part of the multi media marketing campaign for the event. There is no booth fee for NPOs.

Marketing: Event advertising will include Billboard, Radio, and Print. Expose your organization to thousands of local and regional patrons.

Requirement: In turn for the free booth location and publicity RCHS asks that you promote the event to your contacts and supporters, etc. If goods other than chances and fundraisers are intended to be sold, RCHS would require standard booth fee.

Agreement: Submission of entry indicates acceptance of conditions here set forth.

Hospitality: Grounds open for setup at 6:30 am. Booth-sitters will be available and cold water restrooms are on the grounds. C will be delivered to booths throughout the event. The campus is open to the public from 10:00 am until 5:00 pm when load out can begin.

Important Dates: Vendors will be notified of acceptance no later than June 30, 2011
